Lorraine Komisarjevsky TYLER

PUBLICATIONS

a) Books

b) Journal articles and book chapters
1975

1977

1978

1980

1981

1982

1983

1984

1985

1986

1987

1988

1989

1990

1992

1993

1994

1995

1996

1997

1998

1999

2000

2001

2002

2003

2004

2005

2006

2007

2008

2009

2010

frontotemporal language system in the context of age-related atrophy. Cerebral Cortex, 20(2), 352-364.

In press

c) Commentaries, etc

d) Published refereed abstracts (since 2000)

2000

2001

2002
Longworth, C.E., Marslen-Wilson, W.D., & Tyler, L.K. (2002). Non-fluent aphasics show an abnormal time course of semantic activation from the regular past tense. Journal of Cognitive Neuroscience, 14, B55.

2003

2004

2005

2006

2007

2008

2009

INVITED PRESENTATIONS (SINCE 1994)

Theoretical and Experimental Neuropsychology (TENNET), Montreal, May 1994. Symposium on Agrammatism.

Category-specific deficits following brain damage: An integrated account. Third International Workshop on Cognitive Research of Language, Beijing, China, April 1997 (keynote address).

Psycholinguistics 40 years on. Festschrift in honour of Prof John C. Marshall, Oxford University, Sept 2004.

Conceptual structure and object processing within the ventral stream. Workshop on “Domain specificity”. Institute of Cognitive Neuroscience, April 2005.

Object processing in the ventral temporal stream: the interaction of process and content. Conference of Sino-Western Exchange in Cognitive Neuroscience (Beijing University & MIT), Beijing, China, October 2006.

Functional neuroanatomy of conceptual knowledge. Language and the Brain, University of California at Davis, April 2008 (keynote).
Modulation of the fronto-temporal language system by different grammatical markers: European Science Foundation meeting: Words in Action, Pisa October 2009 (plenary).

CONFERENCES ORGANISED (SINCE 1995)
Experimental Psychology Society meeting: Cambridge, April 2008.