Scientists and scholars who collectively aim to promote learning, education and research

Directory 2024

www.ae-info.org
FOREWORD
FROM THE PRESIDENT

It is my honour and privilege to address in this foreword, the scientific and scholarly community of Academia Europaea.

All current members of Academia Europaea are listed in this Directory. The 2023 call resulted in an increase in new members by 6.7% to a total of 5725. While we welcome such an increase in numbers, we still need to work on our membership's diversity. The share of members working in countries with as yet less developed research environments grew only from 10.3% to 11%. The share of female members increased from 18.3% to 19.6%. The share of female members in 1988 when Academia Europaea was established, was 18%. We also need more members representing the younger generation of researchers.

One of Academia Europaea's activities is to acknowledge outstanding scientific and scholarly research achievements, as well as accomplishments in science policy through prestigious prizes, highlighted in this Directory. Year after year, the excellence of our members' research has been acknowledged by Nobel Prizes, Fields Medals, Balzan Prizes and any prestigious distinctions from Europe and beyond. In 2024, for the first time, the Selection Committee took note of the CoARA principles in their evaluation process. Academia Europaea together with more than 700 European research performing and funding organizations and academies signed the CoARA agreement that highlights qualitative criteria, and use of quantitative ones in a responsible manner. The prime criterion for new AE members continues to be excellence in research.

The Directory gives a short description of the Academy's Regional Knowledge Hubs, hosted mostly by local universities or academies. The Hubs are actively driving their specific research agendas and enriching the academic communities in their regions that cross national borders. The vast geographical reach of the Hubs is exemplified by the Bergen Hub (Arctic, Northern and Baltic region), the Barcelona Hub (Catalan, Spanish and Mediterranean region) and the Tbilisi Hub (Southern Caucasus). We welcome the second generation of academic directors that have taken positions in the Barcelona, Budapest and Tbilisi Hubs.

To mention one academy-level activity of AE, I would like to highlight science advice, that we have provided to the European Commission since 2017 in the context of the Commission's Science Advice Mechanism. It informs the European Commission's decisions by provision of scientific evidence in the form of Evidence Review Reports, authored by frontier researchers such as members of our Academy.

HISTORY

The concept of a “European Academy of Sciences” was raised at a meeting in Paris of the European Ministers of Science in 1985. The initiative was taken by the Royal Society (UK), which resulted in a meeting in London in June 1986 of Arnold Burgen (UK), Hubert Curien (FR), Umberto Columbus (IT), David Magnusson (SE), Eugene Seibold (DE) and Ruud van Lieshout (NL) – who agreed to the need for a new body that could express the ideas and opinions of individual scientists from across Europe.

This body was seen to be a complement to the European Science Foundation in its role as a co-ordinator of the European interests of national research funding agencies and organisations. The objectives were kept deliberately broad covering the humanities, social and natural sciences, so as to ensure interdisciplinary discourse and activities. Initial modalities were to include annual meetings of members, multidisciplinary meetings, an interdisciplinary journal, a newsletter, providing independent advice, improving mobility of scholars within Europe and improving public understanding of science.

The new body was named the Academia Europaea and its Foundation Meeting was held in Cambridge in September 1988 under the first President, Arnold Burgen. Hubert Curien, who was at that time the French Minister of Science (and later became the second President of the Academy) arrived by helicopter and gave the inaugural address and provided the active support of the French government. The first Plenary Meeting was held in London in June 1989, by which time there were 627 members. The current numbers stand at over 3,000 scholars elected from the continent of Europe and beyond.

Since 1998, there has been a period of remarkable changes to the scientific, political and economic landscape of the continent of Europe. The Academia Europaea has evolved within this environment, from its origins as an organisation of predominantly “western European” scholars, into a uniquely independent body – a truly pan-European Academy of Sciences, Humanities and Letters.

2012 saw further development, with the opening of a new regional “Knowledge Hub” in Wroclaw, Poland. A second Hub in Barcelona was opened in 2013 – the 25th anniversary year of the founding of the Academia Europaea. In May 2014 we opened a third Knowledge Hub, in Bergen, Norway. During 2015 a fourth Hub was opened in Cardiff, Wales. In April 2019 we opened our fifth hub in Tbilisi Georgia.

MISSION STATEMENT

The Academia will:
- promote a wider appreciation of the value of European scholarship and research,
- make recommendations to national governments and international agencies concerning matters affecting science, scholarship and academic life in Europe,
- encourage interdisciplinary and international research in all areas of learning, particularly in relation to European issues,
- identify topics of trans-European importance to science and scholarship, and propose appropriate action to ensure that these issues are adequately studied. The Academia will endeavour to:
- encourage the highest possible standards in scholarship, research and education,
- promote a better understanding among the public at large of the benefits of knowledge and learning, and of scientific and scholarly issues which affect society, its quality of life and its standards of living.

Organisation
The Hub has an Advisory Board of AE members from Nordic and Baltic countries, and a Steering Group of members from the Bergen region.

Our Mission
Our Hub aims to be a catalyst for collaboration, knowledge exchange and ideas to:
1) Promote excellence and independent national science advice mechanisms, comparable to the EU’s Science Advice Mechanism (SAM). We will draw attention to scientific evidence reviews, e.g., from SAPEA, European Academy Networks and the UN.
2) Promote and showcase excellent research
We will promote and showcase research and scientific excellence within our region and beyond, through various events and communication channels, engaging with our membership base and members of the Young Academy of Sciences in Europe.
3) Promote visibility
We will increase our visibility in the region and strengthen our engagement with relevant actors and communities.
4) Cooperation with national academies in our region and the other AE Hubs in Europe
We aim to establish good connections to the national academies of our region. In this endeavour we will emphasise AE’s strengths in science advice for policy, our pan-European perspectives and strong connections to leading European research institutions e.g., the ERC, in addition to the thematic areas of our Hub.

Aiming to promote interdisciplinary scientific discourse with a regional and European focus through stimulating new links and networks of expertise in the wider Danube region, the Budapest Hub started its operation on 1 January 2021. Based on a collaboration agreement between Academia Europaea and the Hungarian Academy of Sciences signed on 9 December 2020, the Budapest Hub is hosted by the Hungarian Academy of Sciences (MTA), with its administration located at the Secretariat of MTA in Budapest.

In line with its mission, the Budapest Hub relies both on the community of AE members and the public association of the MTA, including members of MTA’s Young Academy. It is strongly committed to co-operate with the network of AE Hubs across Europe, while aiming to establish collaboration with the Young Academy of Europe as well. It seeks to promote in particular the involvement of young scientists and scientists from the Danube region in the design and delivery of its activities.

The Budapest Hub is organised around 4 thematic missions, each co-chaired by a senior Hungarian member of Academia Europaea and a member of the Young Academy of MTA, the latter with the specific assignment to help the involvement of younger generations in Hub actions:

1) Widening European Participation – Their activity aligns with the working group of Academia Europaea on Widening Participation, facilitating top quality nominations for AE membership from geographically underrepresented areas of academic excellence.
2) The Danube Region – The river Danube being a decisive element in defining and shaping the geographical, environmental, historical and political landscape of Central and Eastern Europe, the study of the natural and social phenomena of the Danube region and the promotion of scientific excellence and co-operation both in research and in science advice within the region is an inherent mission of the AE Budapest Knowledge Hub.
3) Methodology of Science Education – According to this thematic mission of the AE Budapest Hub there is a need to develop and promote new methodologies in science education to help the transfer of scientific knowledge in all stages of education from primary schools to university science curricula.
4) Urban Sustainability – Urban sustainability encompasses sustainability domains of economic, socio-cultural, technological, environmental and public policy – thus, cross-sectional and multidisciplinary approaches are highly welcome. Academies, like the Academia Europaea (AE), are especially suitable interfaces for these cross-sectional and multidisciplinary approaches.
5) There are plans and discussions to include an additional fifth thematic mission in the field of translational medicine, based on extended national and international co-operations.

Academia Europaea Tbilisi Knowledge Hub was established on the 24th of April 2019 as a joint initiative of Academia Europaea and Ivane Javakhishvili Tbilisi State University, with the support of the Ministry of Education, Science and Youth of Georgia. The Hub acts as the Academia Europaea’s branch in the Eastern Partnership Countries with the aim to promote in the region European standards of scholarship and science management via mobilization and internationalization of the local scientific institutions, establishment and consolidation of relations between foreign and local researchers.

The opening of the Hub was met with great enthusiasm by both foreign and local researchers. In the past years, the Hub has originated many events of a scientific nature. They were focused on local initiatives, offering Academia Europaea members participation in lectures, summer schools, and conferences organised by Tbilisi-based universities. Also, a series of specialised seminars and workshops with a European focus have been organised, for example Europa Una (co-organised with Regional Center for International Debate), and summer schools (co-organised with University of Wroclaw and Wroclaw University of Technology). AEKH Wroclaw, in cooperation with the University of Wroclaw conducted a five year programme of The Wroclaw Seminars financed by the Riksbankens Jubileumsfond. Workshops dedicated to writing scientific papers conducted by editors working for leading journals (e.g. Nature) or information meetings on acquiring scientific grants have also been held regularly. In December 2021, the Mayor of Wroclaw, Jacek Sutryk and Rector of the Wroclaw University of Science and Technology, Prof. Arkadiusz Wójcik, signed an agreement under which the Hub was transferred to Wroclaw Tech.
